In a Dark Wood Wandering A Novel of the Middle Ages

The ``dark wood'' of loneliness and confusion is taken from the opening of Dante's Commedia. The image recurs in Charles's poetry, written during his 25-year English captivity after Agincourt.

Fiction Book Review: In a Dark Wood Wandering by Hella S ...

Through their meditations on the Gospel, the author of the Heliand and Dante have a profound answer to the frenetic bustle and claustrophobic closeness of modern society: the dark wood is not the final truth about mankind. Jesus Christ is the light that is "the light of men;" he is the light that "shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it" (Jn 1:4-5).
