I was given "50 literature ideas you really need to know" by John Sutherland as Christmas present this year. I thought this was a great idea... and it shows how well those who gave it to me know me. On its inside cover, it says that the book is "the essential guide to all the important forms, concepts, themes and movements in literature".

Hayley Birch's 50 chemistry ideas you really need to know provides an engaging and concise overview of the subject for novices, like me. Motivated by her observation that chemistry is the 'underdog' of the sciences, perceived by the masses to be less relevant than biology and less interesting than physics, Birch has won me over.
