AP Chemistry Lab 3 1 Activity Series of Metals and Nonmetals PURPOSE To determine an activity series for metals and an activity series for nonmetals. INTRODUCTION In this experiment you will study some metals and some nonmetals to find their relative reactivity. A ranking according to reactivity is called an activity series.

AP Chemistry Lab 3 1 Activity Series of Metals and Nonmetals

An Activity Series Classic Lab Kit for AP® Chemistry guides students as to why some metals can "replace" others and why some redox reactions are spontaneous while others require a battery. Students also learn about reactivity for halogens.

An Activity Series—Classic Lab Kit for AP® Chemistry

The hypothesis has been proven after the experiment. The activity series were correctly found for the metals Magnesium, Zinc, Lead, and Copper and, the halogens Chlorine, Bromine, and Iodine by performing a series of reactions. This lab has almost a hundred percent accuracy since all the data found had matched the actual activity series.

The activity series of metals is an empirical tool used to predict products in displacement reactions and reactivity of metals with water and acids in replacement reactions and ore extraction. It can be used to predict the products in similar reactions involving a different metal. Exploring the Activity Series Chart
