Section 2-1 : Solutions and Solution Sets. For equations we denote the solution set by enclosing all the solutions in a set of braces,  $\{ \}$ . For the two equations we looked at above here are the solution sets.

Now, we can do the rest of the problem by using the substitution method. We'll take the third equation and use it to solve for  $y$ . Plug this  $y$ -equation into the first equation (or second equation; it doesn't matter) to solve for  $z$ . We can use this  $z$  value to find  $y$ . So the solution set is  $x = 1$ ,  $y = 2$ , and  $z = -5/3$ .

Parallel solution sets of  $Ax = b$  and  $Ax = 0$  Theorem Suppose the equation  $Ax = b$  is consistent for some given  $b$ , and let  $p$  be a solution. Then the solution set of  $Ax = b$  is the set of all vectors of the form  $w = p + v$ , where  $v$  is any solution of the homogeneous equation  $Ax = 0$ . Purplemath. You never know when set notation is going to pop up. Usually, you'll see it when you learn about solving inequalities, because for some reason saying " $x < 3$ " isn't good enough, so instead they'll want you to phrase the answer as "the solution set is  $\{x \mid x \text{ is a real number and } x < 3\}$ ". How this adds anything to the student's understanding, I don't know.

Examples. 1. The solution set of the single equation  $=$  is the set  $\{0\}$ .. 2. For any non-zero polynomial over the complex numbers in one variable, the solution set is made up of finitely many points.. 3. However, for a complex polynomial in more than one variable the solution set has no isolated points.
